Annex to the Internal Rules

A. This appendix contains a set of rules that every golfer is supposed to know and apply. The application of some of these rules is so often lacking that they are mentioned here first.

Regarding the speed of play

1. Make every effort to stay within the 18-hole time limit in normal conditions :

- 3 hours 45 minutes for 2-ball games
- 4 hours for 3-ball games
- 4 hours 30 minutes for 4-ball games

2. Keep distance from the game in front of you. Avoid slow play, respect the players behind you. Be more concerned with the game in front of you than with the one behind you: don't let the game in front of you outrun you! If, in spite of everything, there is a clear gap between your game and the one in front of it, let any game that comes into contact pass without waiting.

3. The course is to be followed in the order of holes 1 to 18. If however you have cut (holes 2, 14, 15, 16, 17), you must never make wait for a part making the totality of the course but to collect your balls and go to the following hole, even to the club house in case of impossibility.

4. Single players have no priority. He must keep a sufficient distance from the game in front of him and not try to force his way through by his attitude.

5. If the course is saturated in front of you, and all the parties in front of you are stuck together, there is no point in letting a party pass, it increases the delay and only shifts the problem. So never put pressure on the party ahead of you who is in this situation.

In the event of congestion on the course, the starter and the course marshal are empowered to take any action necessary to relieve the situation, including regrouping games and inviting balls to be lifted to the next tee. In all circumstances, players must comply with the Commissioner's invitation to relieve congestion on the course caused by slow play.

With regard to the preservation of the course

1. Carts and buggies must stay away from the green and park between the green and the start of the next hole. They must avoid the greens and their immediate surroundings, and therefore the green bunkers.

2. Carts must strictly follow the traffic regulations of the day: traffic on roads only or at 90° to the fairways.

3. Quality of the greens depends to a large extent on the repair of the marks left by the balls (pitches). Especially in winter, there are at least as many badly repaired pitches as there are pitches that are not repaired at all. In order to leave almost no marks, the metal pitch lifter is almost indispensable to carefully lift a depth of about 1 cm, starting far enough outside the mark; flatten only with the back of the putter.

B. Dress code

Proper clothing is required. Access to the golf course and driving range is forbidden for the following attire: jeans, shorts (Bermuda shorts accepted) or, for men, T-shirts. Cell phones are not allowed on the course.

All users must respect the signs posted for access to the club, the parking lot and the clubhouse.

C. Other reminders of course preservation measures

- Shoes: Studded shoes are not allowed.
- Course: On the course, players must replace and level any divots that they have torn off in the course of their stroke. They must avoid causing damage to the course by taking practice shots. Replace all stakes and protections removed so as not to interfere with a shot. Caution: A white out-of-bounds post must not be moved.

- Starting areas: No practice shots are allowed on the starts. Carts and bags may not be driven or parked on the tee boxes.
- Green: Players must replace the flag before leaving the green and avoid damaging the edge of the hole. It is forbidden to remove the ball from the hole with the putter. The players will take care not to throw the flag on the green. They must not drag their shoes or hit the green with their club.
- Bunker : After playing in a Bunker, players must carefully rake the tracks they made in the sand while playing or walking. The player enters and exits through the lower parts of the Bunker. Be sure to put the rake back down so that it interferes as little as possible with the subsequent game. Do not put the rake back on sandy slopes and steep grass slopes.

Training: Practice (long game and short game) is not permitted on the course. Only the practices are used for training.

D. Other etiquette reminders

All players must have a good knowledge of the etiquette that must be observed on and off the field. Some important aspects are outlined in this rule:

- You should not play until the players before you are absolutely out of reach.
- Players must leave the green as soon as they finish the hole. They must record their score after leaving the vicinity of the green.
- Do not interfere with a player preparing to make a shot by talking, moving or standing near or in the line of fire.
- Players must respect the signage set up.

ADVICE TO PLAYERS FORMULATED BY THE FRENCH GOLF FEDERATION TO FIGHT AGAINST SLOW PLAY

At the start of the hole N° 1

- Arrive ten minutes before your tee time, have your tees, ball markers, pitchers ready. Mark your balls
- In free play, play starting marks adapted to your level of play
- Take a ball in your pocket (to play a provisional if necessary)

On the other starting areas

- Note the score of the previous hole on the scorecard
- In a free game, the first one to be ready makes his move, even if he does not have the honor. Hit your shot as soon as the previous group is out of range. Let the shorter players hit first.
- Limit conversation until you leave the start area.

Everywhere

- If a ball is in danger of being lost or out of bounds, play a provisional.
- Watch not only your ball, but also the balls of the other players in your group. Memorize the landing zones with the help of fixed markers (trees, posts, etc.)
- If it looks like the search for a ball is going to be prolonged, invite the next game to go ahead.
- If you leave your cart at a distance, take the necessary number of clubs with you.

On the fairway

- Go straight to your ball and help search for lost balls after hitting your ball.
- While you are getting to your ball, or while other players are playing, choose your club and make your practice shots (as long as you don't interfere with other players).
- Limit your ball search time, in any case, never exceed the authorized 5 minutes of search, even in free play.
- In a two-person cart, drop your passenger off at their ball and go directly to yours or vice versa. Take the necessary number of clubs with you.

In a bunker

- Look for the rake before entering the bunker and enter the bunker by the shortest and least steep path.

At the green

- Place your cart, bag or clubs between the green and the next tee so you don't have to backtrack after you putt.
- Study your putt line while others are putting.

In free part

- The first to be ready puts; if possible, adopt continuous putting and make short putts.
- At the end of the hole, leave the green quickly, calculate and score your next tee.

Pick up your ball

- When in "stableford" you cannot score any more points.
